Introduction

When I look through the magazine and read the various events that are organised in the Withington Group Parishes I realise how fortunate we are in having so many people who contribute so much time and effort for the benefit of us all. Please support their efforts!

My sincere thanks to Rene Hinton for her generous donation towards the production of the magazine, your support is greatly appreciated Rene.

In the previous edition of the magazine I suggested that we could include a section on places to visit or stay. Now is the time that many people will be looking for ideas so please pass on any good suggestions that you may have. (This is mine: I have recently returned from a holiday in Italy with the grandchildren and if you want a very good place to stay near Sorrento where you can visit Pompeii, Herculaneum, Mount Vesuvius and Capri look at www.cuboapartments.it). However, ideas don't have to be so far-afield as there are many wonderful places and events to visit right on our doorstep. Here are a few suggestions:

The Weir Garden, Swainshill, the Maze and Butterfly Centre at Symons Yat, Croft Castle, Yarpole near Leominster, Hampton Court near Leominster, and for the adventurous how about walking up the Tower at Hereford Cathedral (an excellent view of the City on a clear day). The list is endless and I hope that you all will be able to enjoy some days out now the days are getting warmer.

Best wishes,

Margaret

Everyone welcome

Dear Friends

This year is a momentous one in the life of our churches because, for the first time, we are going to have a full-time curate. When anyone is ordained into the Church of England they spend 3-4 years in a parish as a curate under the guidance of a senior priest before moving on to take on a parish of their own. Our curate is called Paul Roberts, he is married to Rosie, they have a one year old little boy called Jack and they will live at The Beeches in Withington (the house opposite the village shop). He will be joining us on 5th July and there is a special service at St Peter's, Withington at 6 pm that day to welcome him—please come along and take the opportunity to meet him. Paul is very much looking forward to coming and I will invite him to tell you more about himself in the next magazine.

Best wishes

Jane

Food collection point

Thank you to everyone who has donated non-perishable food, essential toiletry items, cleaning materials and pet food to the Churches in Hereford Diocesan Action Team (CHAT). A collection box can be found in Withington Church from where all items are taken regularly to the main collection point in Aubrey Street, Hereford.

Every week Emergency Food Parcels are being supplied to families who are in serious and sudden hardship and there is a continued increase in need this year.

You may have seen Jeremy Paxman confront the Prime Minister about the disgrace of the continued and increasing need for Food Banks in this wealthy Country of ours.

If you are able to put just one or two extra items in your shopping basket to donate to the Collection Point in the Church when you do your shopping, it will make all the difference.

St Peter's Prayer Cross

As the Church visitor's book shows there are many people, some local, some not, who call into the Church during the week. Comments in the book include, gratitude that the Church is kept open and enjoyment of the music playing in the background.

Many people call in for a quiet moment of prayer and reflection and many others tend graves of loved ones in the Churchyard.

We thought it would be good to provide opportunity for visitors, if they would like, to share their thoughts and prayers with others. To this end we have put a prayer cross in the Church to which prayers, thoughts, thanks, remembrances can be attached. These can be included in the worship of the Church if desired.

Local History

Beating The Bounds

In former times when maps were rare it was common for members of the community to walk around the parish on Ascension Day or during Rogation week to establish the boundaries of each parish. Checking the boundaries was a way of preventing encroachment by neighbours as sometimes boundary markers would be moved or lines illegally obscured. The ceremony also re-enforced such matters as liability to contribute to the repair of the church and the right to be buried within the churchyard.

The parish priest, churchwardens and parochial officials led a crowd of boys who would beat the boundary markers with green boughs (usually birch or willow). Sometimes the boys were themselves whipped or even violently bumped on the boundary-stones to make them remember the limits of the parish. The object of taking boys along is supposed to ensure that witnesses to the boundaries should survive as long as possible. Priests would pray for protection of the boundaries and often Psalms 103 and 104 were recited. Hymns would be sung and many places in the English countryside bear names such as Gospel Oak testifying to their role in the ceremony.

In England the custom dates from Anglo-Saxon times as it is mentioned in laws of Alfred the Great and Æthelstan. It is thought that the ceremony may have been derived from the Roman Terminalia, a festival celebrated on February 22 in honour of Terminus, the god of landmarks. Similar pagan practices were introduced by the Vikings.

Brownies

On 22nd March Brown Owl wrote the following:

Dear Editor,

There is something very important to say about Brownies in Withington.

I am moving abroad in July to live in Nepal for 3 years!! There is no one available at present to continue running the unit and so we have suggested the girls go to either Marden Brownies or Burley Gate Brownies. They know the Marden Brownies very well as we have been to lots of events together and the Brown Owl of Burley Gate came last week to tell us all about her recent Guiding trip to India, so they know her too.

Our last meeting will be this Monday (23rd March) when we are holding a special evening with the Animal Man who is bringing snakes, meercats, a chinchilla, a tarantula etc. to show the girls! Marden Brownies will be joining us.

If anyone is interested in joining Brownies they can contact Mrs Trish Bartup, Brown Owl at Marden, tel 01432 880859 or Mrs Jean Parkes, Brown Owl at Burley Gate tel 01432 820402 The unit will not be closed officially but will be kept 'dormant' so that it can be restarted in the future should a new Guider become available.

We have had a very happy group of 6 Brownies at Withington over the past year and have done lots of super things especially in relation to the 100 years Anniversary of Brownies, the highlight of which was when we went to London for a night with most of the Brownies from Herefordshire. There is another big event this Saturday ((28th March) at Hampton Court (Bodenham) called The Enchanted Prom, which will be fun.

Yours sincerely,

Fiona Smith (Brown Owl)

Preston Wynne

Hi Everyone,

As we write the sun is shining but oh boy, that March wind is blowing - never mind it will soon be April and we can look forward to the showers. Just got back from a Table Sale in the Hall to raise funds to keep it going, have to say the turn-out was disappointing. Ah well! Worth a try and thanks to all who did come and support in any way. Every little helps.

Lambing is nearly over here in Preston Wynne so there will be a few bleary-eyed farmers catching up on some sleep soon. We welcome too a new addition to the Williams family of Meadow Crescent, baby Jake, and we welcome back into the fold Josh Hargest after 5 months working and playing in Australia.

Glad you were back before the cricket final of the world cup Josh, my brother who is more Ozzie than Brit having gone out as a ten pound Pom tends to get a bit of a dig in about our lack of prowess in and on that particular field, and I don't think he is untypical - say no more!

Church services:

May 10th H.C. at 8.00 am

May 24th Family Service at 9.30 a.m

June 14th H.C. at 8 a.m

June 28th Family Service at 9.30 am

The SUMMER FETE on Sunday 21st June at 2.30 pm will be held in Preston Wynne this year in aid of both Preston Wynne and Felton Churches. The planned venue is the cricket field, weather permitting of course, a glorious venue when it's with us, so a date for your diary please.

Finally don't forget the monthly PRIZE BINGO IN AID OF HALL FUNDS. These are held on the 3rd Tuesday of each month in the Hall, eyes down 8.00 pm.

See you soon,

Love Hilary and Tricia

Westhide

After all the lovely snowdrops we now have the primroses and violets in the churchyard - Spring is here and summer not too far behind. Good to look forward to after all the gales and power cuts.

Volunteers came down and did the church spring clean - polishing the brass, dusting, sweeping and hoovering up. What the visiting Japanese students thought of it we couldn't tell - they seemed happy enough.

Jubilations in the Williams household - they travelled down to Devon to watch Joe at the passing out parade - to discover he had won the Captain's award for best in the class! Congratulations Joe. Together with Malcolm reaching a significant birthday there was much celebration that weekend.

Ash Dieback Fungal Disease

Ash dieback fungal disease has infected 90% of the species in Denmark and is threatening to devastate Britain's 80million ash population. Symptoms of the disease can be visible on leaves, shoots and branches of affected trees.

Cases mapped

Officials from the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs are currently investigating suspected cases across the country. So far, the disease caused by the fungus chalara fraxinea has been found at almost 300 locations across the UK.

The University of East Anglia (UEA) has also been mapping further "likely sightings" that have been submitted through a free smartphone app, called Ashtag, which allows users to upload pictures and report suspected cases. Information is then passed on to the Forestry Commission.

How ash dieback could threaten Britain's wildlife

Britain's population of 80 million ash trees provides shelter and food for a wide range of wildlife, mostly birds and insects. The species' loosely-branched structure means plenty of light reaches the woodland floor, allowing a variety of plants to grow beneath them.

CORNER

Poetry Corner

I wrote this poem on one of those occasions when I wanted to write a poem, but couldn't think of anything to write about - so that became my topic!

A Poem for the Teacher

by Angela on 18th January 2012

I've got to write a poem, I don't know what to say.
The trouble is, my teacher wants it handing in today.

He sent me with some poems, and said they would inspire,
But generally the rhythm and the rhyming were just diabolical!

I mostly like the poems with rhythm and with rhyme,
But when I try to write I cannot end the verse in time.

Hang on, I think I did it! I've not done that before.
I think I'm getting better as I gradually do more.

But now I need a subject. I haven't got a clue.
I don't do soft and mushy stuff, so what am I to do?

I'm sorry sir, I'm giving in. I'll never make a poet.

You sure?

I think you always were, but simply didn't know it.

✓ A good effort
